

Tourism, for example, can be an area to invest in as apart from generating jobs,

it also promotes local culture and products.

Job opportunities, though, should be available for men, women, young people, migrants and also for persons with disabilities.

Inequalities in opportunities and earnings are very often observed in our society and this is something that should be eradicated.

According to research, young women are twice as likely as young men not to be in employment, education or training.

CIELL Inclusive English Language Learning

<https://ciell.eu>

Funded by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union

This research and development project was co-funded by the ERASMUS+ Programme of the European Union under grant number 2018-1-UK01-KA203-048195 and partners Lancaster University (UK), University of Cyprus (Cyprus), Friedrich-Alexander Universität (Germany), and AKTO (Greece).

This publication reflects the views only of the authors, and the Commission cannot be held responsible for any use, which may be made of the information contained therein.

This work is licenced under creative commons BY-NC-ND 4.0

Author: Damaskini Metzidaki • Illustrations: Eleni Tsampra

